Rattled in Search for Wealthy Victims.

If This relates to the Tribune 1
Chicago, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Helen Evers, called the "lure" of the alleged blackmail syndicate, to-day told her attorney, Charles Erbstein, she was forced to sign a confession after a nall night's grilling in the State Attorney's office by Dwight McKay, Assistant State Attorney.

Trevealed to-day, when Assistant District Attorney John C. Knox, of New York, arrived.

Not all the family skeletons which had been thoroughly and paintakingly catalogued by the blackmailers throughout the country were rattled, it became known to-day. Evidently the gang had prepared itself for several years of operations. It had made a systematic study of virtually all the well-to-do families in the United States.

It had listed the names of all young men who "sowed their wild oats," and they will never a men of position or wealth began to evince a desire to return to began to evince a desire to return to began to evince a desire to return to the "bright lights" the syndicate was on his trail like a pack of wolves.
